Florida Department of Health

Overdose Data to Action (OD2A)
Ready-to-Respond Overdose Kits(2026)

Florida HEALTH

Presenter

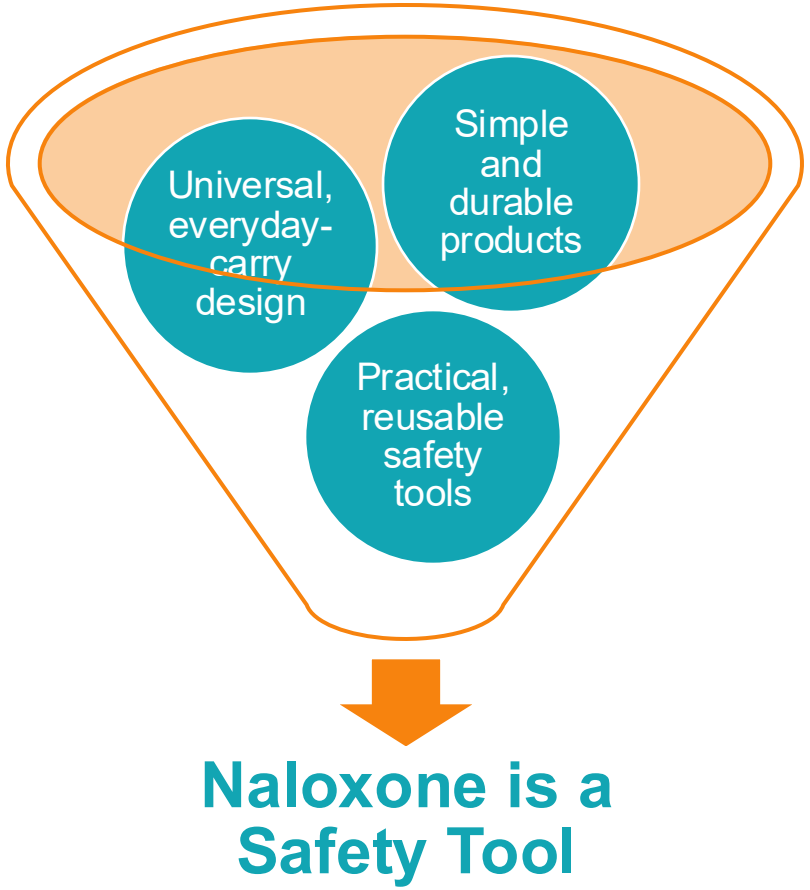
Grace Schimenti, MPH
Biological Scientist IV
Division of Disease Control and Health Protection
Florida Department of Health in Miami-Dade County)

Framing Naloxone as a Safety Tool

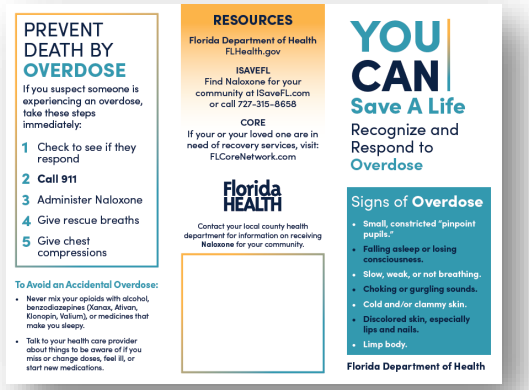
Florida HEALTH

Public messaging emphasizes

- Naloxone is for everyone, not only people who use drugs.
- Increased readiness to intervene during an overdose is a shared community responsibility.
- Reduce stigma and misconceptions that limit lifesaving action.



The Ready-to-Respond Toolkit



The Ready-to-Respond Toolkit

Water-Resistant Pouch

- Safe to place in humid environments or places prone to leaks.
- Protects materials; reusable.

The Ready-to-Respond Toolkit

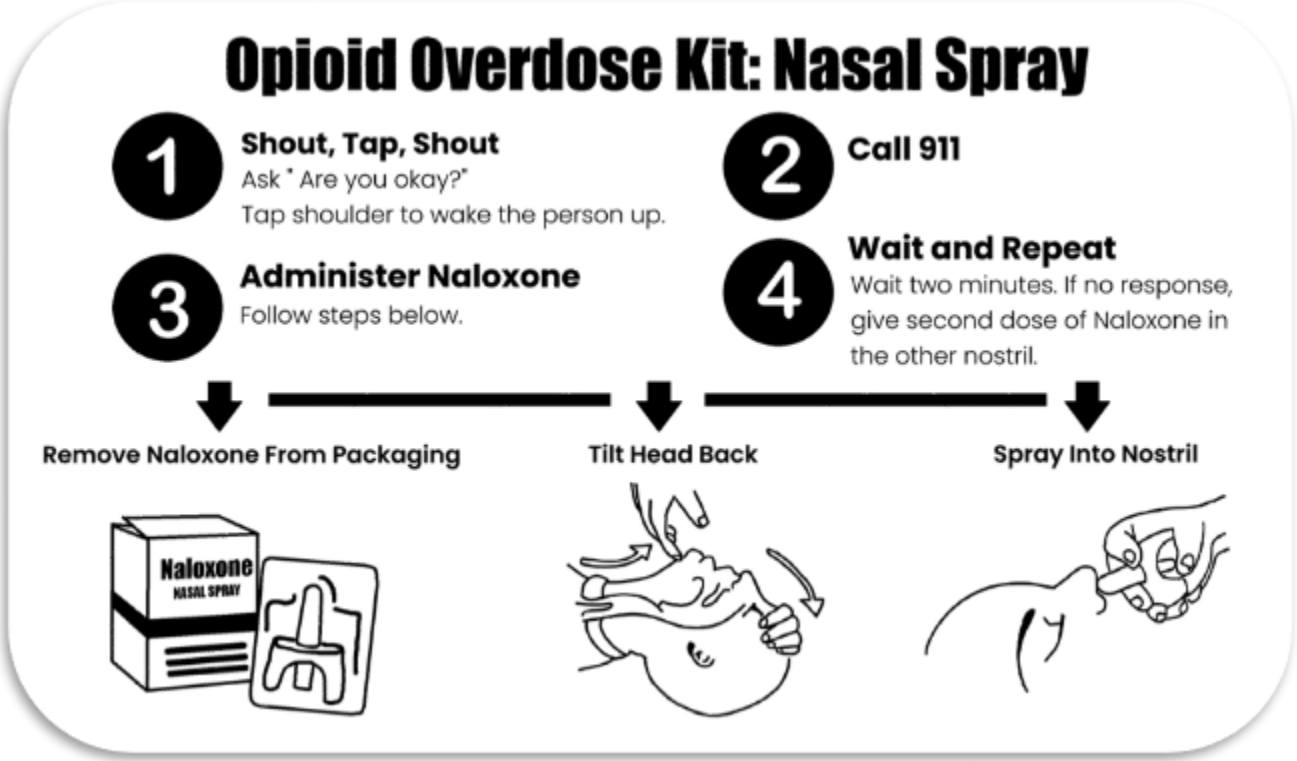
Lanyard & First Aid Kit Pouch

- Pocket sized First Aid Kit
- Hands-free, event-friendly
- Supports quick access
- Can hold 1-2 doses of Naloxone

The Ready-to-Respond Toolkit

Instruction Card (English & Spanish)

- Wallet-friendly
- High-contrast black-on-white for low-light visibility
- Clear, low-literacy visuals



The Ready-to-Respond Toolkit

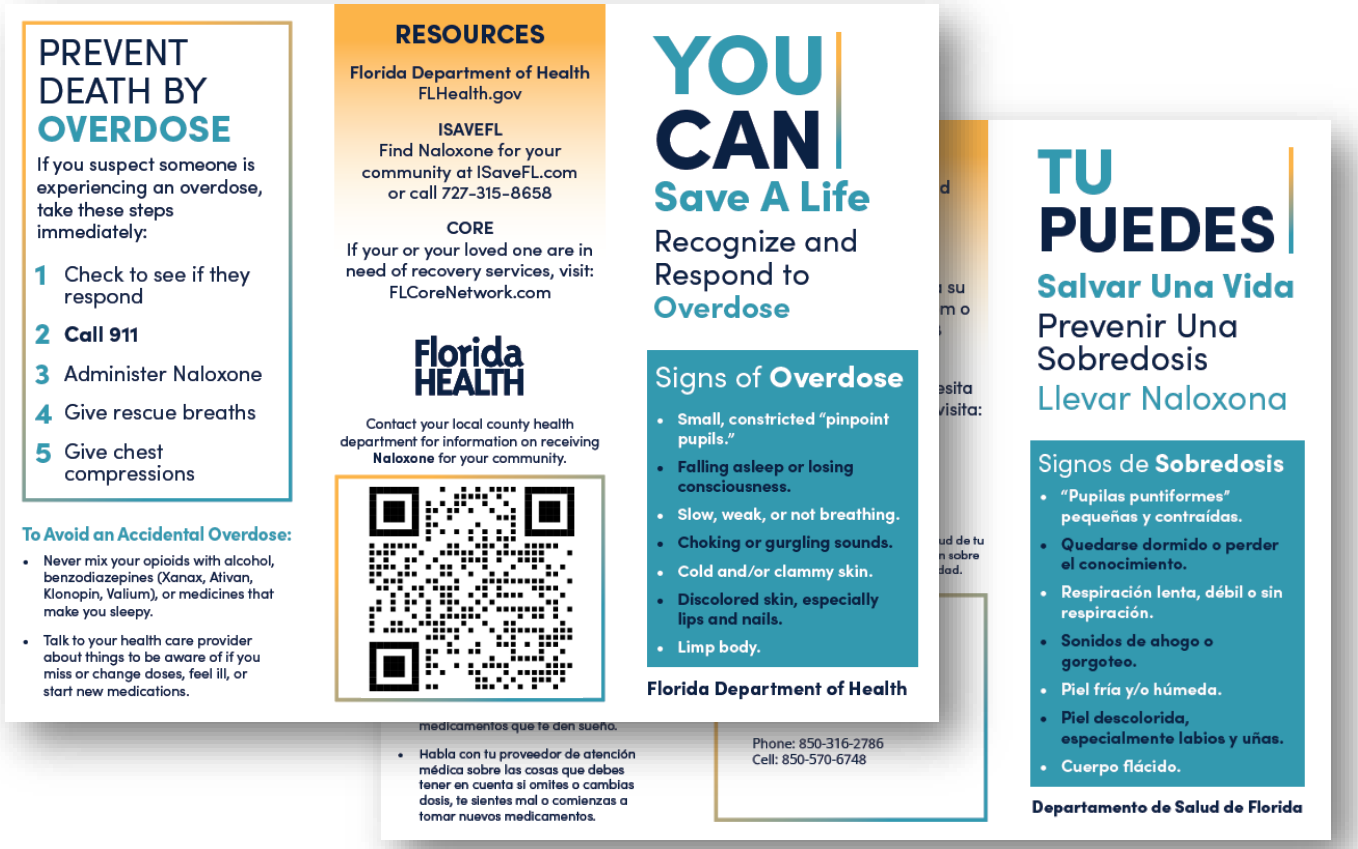
CPR Face Shield Keychain

- Compact backup for rescue breathing
- Preventing hesitation during emergencies
- Easy to pair with lanyard and palm pouch

The Ready-to-Respond Toolkit

Flyer (English & Spanish)

- Provides an overview of overdose signs and response measures.
- Offers resources and linkage to Naloxone in Miami-Dade county, via QR-codes, phone numbers, and website links.



How Partners Can Engage

Florida HEALTH

Distribute kits at events, clinics, shelters, outreach sites

Help us track distribution and outreach effectiveness

Provide feedback on the Ready-to-Respond Overdose Kit

Share insights on community needs and opportunities

Contact Information

Grace Schimenti, MPH
Applied Epidemiology and Research / EDC-IS
Division of Disease Control and Health Protection
Bureau of Epidemiology

305-470-6918
Grace.Schimenti@FLHealth.gov